Shifting the system?

AIM: Long-term sustainability for community action

HOW?

we make the case for it politically...

and radically transform Public Services.

CASE STUDY: Oldham's Thriving Communities programme

CHALLENGE: our collective effort to sustain change?

Key insights

- Models as outliers
- Barriers to Systems Change:
 - Soft: narrative & culture
 - Hard: systems & processes
- Revolution AND evolution?
- What's your catalyst?

“We often see models that work with citizens but sit on the edge of a wider system that isn’t behaving in the same way...”

 @CollaborateIns

Collaborate is an independent CIC based at London Southbank University, focusing on the thinking, culture and practice of cross-sector collaboration in public services. We believe that an increasingly complex operating environment needs an outcomes-focused and more collaborative approach – and we work with government, business and civil society to make this happen in practice. Instead of 'public services', Collaborate facilitates coalitions developing 'services to the public' – efficient, dynamic services that have a closer relationship with the people using them and are more resilient to the challenges they face.
