

LAST NIGHT OF FREEDOM

Why LNOF? Well, we are different, we love interesting people and we are very ambitious.

We sell fun, we work hard, we want to be number #1

Over the last two years we've seen some serious growth, and this is only the start. Yes, we are still a small business (if 45 staff is classed as small), but our ideas & ambitions are infinite, and our work here is by no means done.

Our philosophy is one of integration and communication. We want to sell the best products, and provide the best service, both to our customers through our website, and to our staff through internal admin & cms systems.

Now, we need some help...

LAST NIGHT OF FREEDOM

To enlighten, amuse, delight and empower our audience in the organisation of a world class

Last Night of Freedom

through modern technology, industry-leading knowledge and outstanding customer service.

Essentially, our business is travel and tourism, but we are very much a technology based company. We build everything in-house, and therefore have a multitude of systems & software that now either needs replacing altogether or a serious overhaul!

We are creating a Digital team of talented, motivated and passionate individuals who have the vision and drive to take Last Night of Freedom where we want to go. We currently have two professional and enthusiastic graphic designers and one front-end web-developer, our team needs somebody to help us implement our plans & ambitions. This means huge potential for the right candidate to put their stamp on the company - and we are extremely excited about this.

Find out about the position...

LAST NIGHT OF FREEDOM

What do we want you to do?

Customer Relationship Management (CRM) System. This is fundamental to our future success. We need this to be extremely intuitive, but it needs to be flexible. We may need to replace our SQL Server for new, and we may need to change our software platform if you believe this to be necessary - these will be your call. Ultimately, our customer needs to communicate via the website, through the CRM, and a booking needs to be placed and fulfilled without issue. This is not an easy task, and you will need to see the big picture if you are going to help deliver this.

Come and have a look around...

We find an informal chat and a cuppa can lead to a world of possibilities, so why not, come along, see the HQ and give us a go?

R.S.V.P

andy@lnof.co.uk

+44 (0)191 499 8732

LNOF, Saltmeadows Road, Gateshead, NE8 3AH