

Soapbox Science 2018!

Would you like to develop your public engagement skills and be part of Soapbox Science Newcastle 2018?

 16/06/18  12:00-15:00  Grey's Monument, Newcastle City Centre

Soapbox Science is a national public outreach event that aims to bring cutting edge research onto urban streets whilst also promoting the visibility of women in science. We place inspirational speakers on soapboxes and encourage them to engage and start conversations with the public about their work.

For a flavour of Soapbox Science Newcastle, have a look at our films from 2017:

Meet the Scientists: <https://tinyurl.com/soapboxscientists>

Soapbox Science highlights: <https://tinyurl.com/soapboxsciencenc1>

Our call for speakers is now open! If you are female, an academic scientist, researcher or PhD student and would like to take part please apply: <http://soapboxscience.org/2018-2/>

The closing date is Friday 23 February 2018.

Training and guidance will be provided.

"Our call for speakers is now open. All female scientists can apply".